CATALOGUE OF THE
PARLIAMENTARY OFFICE LIBRARY
PREFACE.

The present Supplement and Appendix comprise entries of all works added to the Library from the printing of the 1898 Catalogue to the 31st December, 1909. In future it is proposed to print at much shorter intervals. A consolidated set of the Catalogue and Supplements will be kept in the Library on the Sheaf Catalogue or Loose-Leaf Ledger principle.

As it is not proposed to distribute or place on sale copies of future supplements, a few words of explanation are offered to users of the two published volumes.

Entries: Some imperfect entries in the 1898 Catalogue are superseded by fuller entries in the Supplement or Appendix. A certain amount of reprinting also has been admitted in the present volume to avoid the repetition of the titles of different editions of the same work when brought together in the consolidated copy of the Catalogue. Collations appear for the first time in the Supplement and Appendix. The total number of pages in a volume, and the number of unpaginated plates or tables are specified, but not the number of illustrations appearing in the text.

Headings: Works containing the Author's name, initials or pseudonym are entered under these headings; Anonymous works under the first word of the title (other than an article); Departmental and State publications under the country or place name followed by the name of the Department or Office, except in the case of English Departmental publications which are entered directly under the Department, e.g. Board of Trade, Home Office, etc.; Society publications under the first word of the title with a reference from the place name, if contained in the title; Periodicals under the first word of the original title with references from later titles.

Subject Headings: These are confined to biographies of individuals, histories, &c. of corporate bodies, commentaries and criticisms of single works, reports of named Expeditions, Ships, &c. For the classification of subject-matter other than the above, recourse must be had to the Subject Lists in the Library Series, which is still in course of publication. A consolidated edition of these Subject Lists is kept for reference in the Library. A complete edition in slip form is also available for reference at the Central Desk in the Library.
